Product Data

Revision 4.0

Puraflex primer is a thin liquid bitumen primer with good penetration characteristics for underground installations. It is produced from a blend of bitumen, adhesives and solvents and improves the bond strength between the self-adhesive Puraflex Tank and the underground structure. The primer needs to be stirred well before use and can be applied with a brush, a rubber squeegee or an airless sprayer. Consumption depends upon the porosity of the structure.

Primer Tanking is a hydro-carbon and chemical resistant tanking membrane suitable for contaminated land, water resources and ground water protection, environmental protection and secondary installations for which a self-adhesive membrane is required.
